

President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will brief five congressional leaders today on the scope of the Central Intelligence Agency's covert operations, Kissinger said today.

The White House meeting was prompted by the controversy over CIA funding of what has been described as an effort to destabilize the since-overthrown Marxist government of President Salvador Allende in Chile.

Kissinger disclosed the planned meeting as he talked with reporters aboard Ford's jetliner en route to New York where Ford addresses the U.N. General Assembly.

He said, "We ... will put it before them in detail ... and ask them, 'What do you want to do.'"

Invited to the meeting were Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, House Speaker Carl Albert, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, House Democratic Leader Thomas T. O'Neill and House GOP Leader John Rhodes.

British Election Set

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson today called national elections for Oct. 10, the second parliamentary elections to be held in less than nine months.

The prime minister ordered the elections in a bid to increase the strength of his minority Labor government.

Seguin to Gain Remains of Hero

SEGUIN, Tex. (AP) — Eight years ago, Al Koebig decided he would visit the grave of Juan Seguin the Texas revolutionary hero for whom Koebig's quiet home town was renamed.

Today, Koebig's home town is planning a new burial site for Juan Seguin and an elaborate memorial.

After years of negotiations, the Mexican government has approved the removal of Seguin's remains from a cemetery in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico. The hero's remains will be disinterred Friday, says Koebig.

Until 1839, Koebig's hometown was named Walnut Springs.

However, it was renamed to honor Juan Seguin, who rose to the rank of colonel in Sam Houston's Texas Army and who served in the Texas Congress. Koebig says Seguin would have been killed in 1836 at the Alamo if he had not been elsewhere trying to gather support for troops at the embattled mission.

Balance of Payments Deficit $2.7 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today that the country's balance of payments was in deficit by $2.7 billion in the second quarter of the year, due largely to a big outflow of dollars to pay for foreign oil and an increase in U.S. investments abroad.

The second quarter deficit compared with a surplus in the first three months of the year of $1.8 billion and was the biggest deficit since $2.9 billion in the third quarter of 1972.

The adverse shift in the balance of payments, which appeared to be much larger than expected, marks a resumption of the big flow of dollars out of the United States that was partially responsible for two devaluations of the dollar in 1971 and 1973.

The Commerce Department said the nation's trade balance with foreign countries was in deficit by $1.6 billion during the second quarter, compared with a near balance in the previous three months. The big difference, it said, was in sharply increased payments for oil imports.

The department also reported a net outflow from the United States of $1.2 billion in long-term private capital transactions, compared with an inflow of $500 million in the first quarter.

Conventions Are Strange Animals

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The world of the 19th century and of William Jennings Bryan waits behind the door to a state convention of Texas Democrats.

A tolerance for tobacco smoke is mandatory. A love of noise protects sanity. An iron bottom keeps the body from taking root.

It takes an hour and a half to finish a roll-call vote.

Some delegates read newspapers. Others eat hamburgers that have all of the flavor of a computer printout.

In the afternoon, delegates in the back of the hall fan themselves with their programs. In the evening, the auditorium becomes an ice box.

The floor looks like a garden of paper wads, crushed softdrink cups and cigarette butts.

Ceiling lights drop coneshaped beams into the tobacco fog.

Security is tight. The doors are manned by Department of Public Safety patrolmen wearing pistols and cartridge belts. Legislators with walkie-talkies patrol the aisles, often cupping a head over one ear while they try to hear with the other.

Big fish in small ponds are minnows in this sea.

Nobody really controls a political convention of 5,447 delegates. It is an animal made up of throats and tongues but no central brain.

One minute it may be slumbering with a moderate snore. A single remark can sting it roarily awake.

These are exceptional people. Ordinary people couldn't be paid enough to endure this.

Year's Top Officer

Mayor Sue Youngblood presents a trophy in recognition of the selection of Sgt. Neal Baggett as the "Officer of the Year" voted by fellow officers of Corsicana Police Department. The presentation was made during Tuesday night's City Commission meeting. Inaugurated last year by Chief Don Massey, the first recipient of the honor for 1973 was Sgt. G.W. Pritchett. Action Line, Home Sales, History Columns Slated

The Corsicana Daily Sun plans to begin three new columns as soon as possible, Editor Bob Armistead announced today.

They include an Action Line column, in which answers to readers' questions are supplied; a From Past Decades column, telling some of the highlight of Golden Circle history from the newspaper's files; and a Home Sales column.

In the Action Line column, Sun staff writers will attempt to answer questions from readers, particularly questions of local or Golden Circle interest. The questions should be mailed to Editor Bob Armistead, Corsicana Daily Sun, P.O. Box 622, Corsicana, Texas 75110.

QUESTIONS must be signed by the writer, and a telephone number and/or address must be included. The name of the person asking the question will not be used in getting the answer—unless the question itself calls for the writer's name to be used.

(For example, getting the answer to a question on what might be done about an abandoned car in front of your house would require telling the police just where your house is.)

Questions will be handled by the reporter whose specialty of interest is involved—the police reporter will handle police questions, etc. Those that require particularly detailed answers or which are of a generalized nature will be the responsibility of Betty Jean Clay, assistant to the editor.

MANY NEWSPAPERS in the state have an Action Line column by one name or another. Armistead said the Daily Sun offered one several years ago, which died when people stopped sending in questions.

"We've had several suggestions that we begin it again," the editor said. "We'll certainly be willing to try it."

Armistead said he hoped to run one question and answer a day, but that the frequency of publication would depend on reader response. "We'll begin it as soon as we get some questions coming in and get some of the answers—probably around Oct. 1."

ARMISTEAD said the From Past Decades column would be compiled by Miss Clay.

"We're tentatively planning to run highlights of the news from 10, 25, and 50 years ago," he said. "We plan to stress Corsicana and Golden Circle events, although we'll use some national events to give the flavor of the times."

The actual years to be included in the column will be determined after it's ascertained how complete the Sun's past files are (some were destroyed by fire) and how much staff time the research takes.

THIS COLUMN also will be tentatively scheduled to start around Oct. 1, Armistead said, and will run on the editorial page along with the AP's Today in History column.

"Navarro County has a higher percentage of senior citizens than most counties in Texas have," Armistead said. "We think they will enjoy recalling some of the highlights of past years through this column, and we think younger residents will enjoy knowing something about Corsicana's past."

Armistead said the Sun will be in contact with local real estate firms soon about a Home Sales column. He said the column would give readers some indication of new families in town and also give some indication of the turnover in real estate here.

The column will not be limited to transactions handled by real estate firms, the editor said. Details will be announced soon.

JOHN GALEY
...news editor

BETTY JEAN CLAY
...assistant to the editor

Galey and Clay Promoted at Sun

John Galey has been named news editor of the Corsicana Daily Sun, and Betty Jean Clay has been named assistant to the editor.

The promotions were announced Wednesday morning by Editor Bob Armistead. Both changes will be effective next Sunday.

Galey came to the Sun last April as wire editor. He had previously worked in the sports department of the Tyler Telegraph.

He will continue his work in editing copy, writing headlines, and making up the pages for each day's edition.

"HE WILL now be responsible, along with me, for the quality of the local news stories," Armistead said. He said Galey would take a more active role in asking that stories be rewritten or that material be added to stories which are turned in.

Miss Clay, a veteran of more than 21 years with the Daily Sun staff, will be involved in several new projects the paper is taking on.

These include responsibilities for the new Action Line column, the From Past Decades column, and the new Home Sales column (see related story above). She has been writing the police beat and will now assume responsibility for the sheriff's department news in order to combine the two into one law-enforcement roundup. These will be in addition to her current assignments in such areas as the Chamber of Commerce and the United Fund.

TO FREE her for these new assignments, Armistead will assume direct responsibility over the reporters and make newsroom assignments himself.

"We think Betty Jean can take charge of these new areas with much more authority than any of the rest of us could," Armistead said. "She has more tenure than just about all of the rest of us put together, so she will be particularly suited to do a From Past Decades column from our back files."

"By virtue of her experience here, she will also be particularly suited to handle the questions our Action Line column may bring in," he added.

Ford Pledges U.S. Will Send More Food Abroad

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Ford, pledging increased food shipments abroad, told the United Nations General Assembly today that "a global strategy for food and energy is urgently required."

In the text for his first appearance before the world organization, Ford said the alternative to cooperation is confrontation.

"Let us not delude ourselves," he said. "Failure to cooperate on oil, food and inflation could spell disaster for every nation represented in this room. The United Nations must not and need not allow this to occur. A global strategy for food and energy is urgently required."

Discussing what the United States is willing to do to help hungry nations, Ford said food aid abroad would be increased this year by an unspecified amount and the United States is "prepared to join in a worldwide effort to negotiate, establish and maintain an international system of food reserves."

The President said the United States would "set forth our comprehensive proposals" to meet present and future world needs at the November World Food Conference in Rome.

The President set forth four principles which he said should guide a global approach to food and energy problems:

"First, all nations must substantially increase production. Just to maintain the present standards of living the world must almost double its output of food and energy ..."

"Second, all nations must seek to achieve a level of prices which not only provides an incentive to producers but which consumers can afford ... By confronting consumers with production restrictions, artificial pricing and the prospect of ultimate bankruptcy, producers will eventually become the victims of their own actions."

"Third, all nations must avoid the abuse of man's fundamental needs for the sake of narrow national or bloc advantage. The attempt by any country to use one commodity for political purposes will inevitably tempt other countries to use their commodities for their own purposes."

"Fourth, the nations of the world must assure that the poorest among us are not overwhelmed by rising prices of the imports necessary for their survival. The traditional aid donors and the increasingly wealthy oil producers must join in this effort."

Ford, who was accompanied on the trip by his wife Betty and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, told the General Assembly that "the economy of the world is under unprecedented stress" and new approaches to international cooperation are needed.

"Energy is required to produce food," he said, "and food to produce energy — and both to provide a decent life for everyone. The problems of food and energy can be resolved on the basis of cooperation — or can be made unmanageable on the basis of confrontation. Runaway inflation, propelled by food and oil price increases, is an early warning signal."

At his news conference on Monday night, Ford said:

"... It is my hope that the United States for humanitarian purposes will be able to increase its contribution to those nations that have suffered because of drought or any of the other problems related to human needs."

Terrorists Surrender To Palestinian Group

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Three Japanese terrorists who occupied the French Embassy in The Hague landed in Damascus today and surrendered to Palestinian guerrillas, an airport spokesman announced.

The French Boeing 707 jet that carried the terrorists from Amsterdam's Schiphol airport landed at the heavily guarded Damascus airport at 8 a.m. EDT.

The terrorists flew from Amsterdam after releasing their nine remaining hostages. A volunteer crew of two Dutchmen and a Briton flew the Boeing 727. The Japanese Red Army is a small guerrilla outfit based in Europe. Its members massacred 26 people in a raid at Tel Aviv airport in 1972.

In The Hague, the French ambassador, Jacques Senard, said he and 10 other hostages "lived at gunpoint" during their four days of captivity.

"For 60 hours we had no food, no water and no bed. It was a horrible experience," Senard told newsmen today.

"In all they shot 25 bullets at the office ceiling and into the floor right next to my shoes," Senard said.

City Studies Right-of-Way, Accepts Bids for Purchase of Cars, Pickups

By SOFIA CANO
Sun Staff Writer

After an hour-long executive session Corsicana's City Commission took no action after meeting with property owners to negotiate for the acquisition of the right-of-way on Northwood Blvd.

During its regular session, the Commission accepted bids for the purchase of eight city vehicles, and awarded a plaque to Neal Baggett naming him Police Officer of the Year.

A LOW BID of $20,403 for the purchase of four police cars was awarded to Hervey Motors. Goins Weatherby bid $20,936 and Tom White submitted a bid of $20,557.

Goins Weatherby's low bid of $8,122 for two pickups was accepted by the Commission over the low bid of $7,891 from Longhorn Dodge in Ft. Worth. City Manager Dick Ballenger recommended the Commission select a local dealership because of any repair work that might be needed. Hervey Motors also submitted a bid of $8,359.

The Commission accepted Tom White Chevrolet's low bid of $16,971 for two dump trucks. Other bids submitted include Goins Weatherby, $17,380 and Hervey Motors, $17,299.

THE COMMISSION ALSO opened bids for an industrial tractor but tabled a decision until Ballenger checks to see if all the specifications have been met by each bidder.

Bidders include D & O Implement Sales of Dallas, $13,490 and H & H Tractor of Athens, $13,851. Navarro County Tractor submitted two bids and Highway Machinery of Waco submitted two bids each. NCT bids include $14,501 for a gas tractor and $14,682 for a diesel tractor. Highway Machinery's bids for a gas tractor was $15,108 and $16,052 for a diesel tractor.

On a motion by Comm. H.R. Stroube, the Commission tabled a decision on accepting a bid for the purchase of police uniforms until the next commission meeting.

Ballenger said he needed to tabulate each individual bid because the companies had listed each part of the uniform as a separate cost. "Some even listed the cost of the buttons," Ballenger said.

COMPANIES WHICH submitted bids for the police uniforms include Charles S. Crout of Dallas, Angelica Uniform of Dallas, Saks Uniform of Dallas, J.B. Battle of Oklahoma City, and Donovan Uniform Co. of Dallas.

In other business, the Commission approved Mayor Sue Youngblood's appointment of Mrs. James R. Ruth to the Library Board. Mrs. Ruth replaces Mrs. Margaret Miller who recently submitted a letter of resignation.

Ballenger's appointment of W.C. "Bill" McCurdy to the Civil Service Commission was also approved. McCurdy replaces Dr. L.E. McGary whose term expires Sept. 30. McGary had informed Ballenger he did not wish to be reappointed to the Commission.

The Commission gave unanimous approval on a first reading, to adopting the 1974 Edition of the Southern Standard Fire Prevention Code. Ballenger said his recommendation to adopt the code was based on the fact that Corsicana's present fire code is obsolete. He added that to be eligible for federal funding, it was necessary to adopt a nationally recognized code that is consistently updated.

APPROVAL ON A first

Weather

LOCAL — Cloudy and warm with a chance of thundershowers today and Thursday. High this afternoon mid 80's and low tonight lower 70's. Winds northeasterly and variable. Probability of rain 30 per cent today and 20 per cent Thursday. High yesterday 82 and low this morning 70. 10 inches of rain recorded in the past 24 hours and 5.15 inches recorded in the past 10 days.

reading was also extended to amending Corsicana's Electrical Code to adopt the 1975 National Electrical Code. Ballenger pointed out to the Commission that the 1975 code contained no major changes.

Three applications for changes in zoning ordinances were approved with no opposition.

Floyd Hardy Estate's application for a change of zoning from a residential to light industrial was approved on a second reading. The application is for all of Block 27, 300 block of East 12th Ave.

The following were approved on a first reading:

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Sykes' application for a specific use permit to operate a nursery or kindergarten in a residential district, Lots 7 and 8 Block 1039, 200 East Hardy; and an application from the Erwin-Besley Co. for a change of zoning from residential to general retail. The second application is for an area which involves Lot 2, Block 1454 and lots A, C, D, and E, Block 1450, 1800-1900 Block of East Seventh Ave.

Separate Envoys

Byelorussia and the Ukraine, constituent republics of the USSR, have separate representation in the United Nations General Assembly. This is the result of a compromise after the Soviet Union protested against the separate admission of members of the British Commonwealth during the formative days of the UN.

Buffalo Soldiers Did Their Part to Make the Southwest Safe for Settlers

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer
The best source material about buffalo soldiers is at Texas Tech University, says Dr. Paul H. Carlson, military historian at Seguin's Texas Lutheran College.
They were the men of two cavalry regiments which did as much as and probably more than other troops to make the Southwest safe for ranchers and settlers.
They all were Negroes. It is very rarely noted by historians that the 9th and 10th Cavalry Regiments were black and there probably are several reasons for that.
Historians seem more interested in units than the color of men who served in them.
Another reason was that the enlisted men were illiterate and left few memoirs or letters for historians to pore over.
You will recall that troop units were not truly integrated until after World War II. And when the 9th and 10th were organized, many white officers refused to serve with them.
Gen. George Custer refused to command Negro troops, which probably made the black race grateful, for you know what he did to his troops into at Little Big Horn. Nobody came back.
On the other hand there was the big military hero of World War I, Gen. John J. "Black Jack" Pershing. He got his nickname because he once commanded black soldiers.
Dr. Carlson says, "Anyone interested in black military history in the West has to begin, it seems to me, in the Southwest Collection at Texas Tech."
The collection has much unpublished material, including the microfilm papers of Col. Benjamin H. Grierson, commander of the 10th for a considerable time.
The two regiments could not begin to accept all who volunteered.
While being trained, the Negroes gave a lot of trouble and there were many desertions.
But once in the West, they proved themselves sturdy, courageous and dedicated. Their record of individual misdeeds was much smaller than those of white regiments on the same assignments.
These troops largely were among the 100,000 blacks who fought for the North in the Civil War. The Negro losses in that conflict were 33,380.

Grocer Shot When He Refused to Sell Beer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The lighted sign said "Cold Beer."
Underneath it, police said on Tuesday, lay the body of grocer Robert Hernandez Trevino, 44, in an everwidening pool of blood.
Customers told police Trevino, a stocky, friendly man, was shot about 11:00 Monday by one of three youths to whom he refused to sell beer because they were under age.
Police said Tuesday a witness had identified a 15-year-old youth who was apprehended later at a convenience store robbery as being present with two other youths when Trevino was shot.
Police were searching for the other two youths.

A Texan Lost in Texas

Most of their battles are barely noted in history, although in the big picture they created history.
Some of their exploits were somewhat spectacular.
Take the wagontrain massacre outside Jacksboro, Tex. A force of about 100 Indians killed seven of 11 teamsters. The other four ran. Some of the victims were tortured.
Stanta, a Kiowa leader, and some of his warriors met in a room with William T. Sherman, the noted Union general, and boasted of the massacre.
Satania was pretty arrogant about it and started to shoot Sherman.
At that, the shutters slammed back and the Kiowas were looking down the barrels of a dozen cocked carbines and just behind the teamsters were a dozen grim, black faces. That ended that.
The Negro troopers spent a lot of time on the Rio Grande trying to kill or capture militant Indians and Mexican raiders. They did achieve some successes, but that is just too much territory for anything less than several divisions to patrol.
Any time they thought they had trapped the pursued, the Indians or Mexicans dashed into Mexico and laughed at the soldiers.
They did receive credit for stopping the "Salt War" around El Paso. Residents had been accustomed to carry off wagon loads of salt from a deposit in the area.
Then in a complicated set of maneuvers, new owners banned the removal of the salt without a relatively large fee.
This set off major riots and the black troopers had to move in and calm things down.
They also got mixed up in the Lincoln County War in New Mexico which made Billy the Kid nationally notorious.
The cavalry's role in that famous western war is controversial. Possibly the troops supported by their presence without active participation the guys in the black hats.
But it was the white commanders who made the decisions in that shootout and subsequent events.
Their last engagements were against the Sioux to the north. They fought 24 years on the frontier with distinguished records before being disbanded.

Hospital Board Meets

The Navarro County Memorial Hospital Board of Managers will hold its regular monthly meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday at the hospital conference room.
The agenda will include consideration of medical staff appointments of four Dallas doctors to work in the emergency room on weekends; consideration of updating personnel policies; equal employment, functions of the hospital auxiliary, and general information; and transfer of funds.

High Gold Prices Cause Flurry of Activity in Idaho Mining Town

MURRAY, Idaho (AP)—The sign near the Four Square Mine, dormant since 1934, would hardly encourage an amateur prospector.
"Use bridges at your own risk—survivors will be prosecuted."
But Bob Kress wasn't at all unfriendly as he sat in his front yard, panning for gold with the aid of a garden hose.
"People come all the time wondering what gold looks like," Kress said. "But I can't see how you can miss it. Nothing else looks like gold."
The Four Square gold-lung-sten mine is two miles south-west of Murray, a historic mining town that was home for 10,000 in its heyday in the 1890s.
Spurred by higher gold prices and the discovery of a half-pound nugget last year, three gold mines are being developed in the center of this revived ghost town of 87 persons and several dozen weathered buildings.
Murray is nestled in a steep, wooded canyon along the banks of Pritchard Creek and is 20 twisting miles of road from the Shoshone County seat of Wallace.
A morning's panning for Kress had produced four small flakes of gold, and the mine watchman calculated he'd need 100 pieces—a level teaspoon full—to make an ounce.
"You can be in gold-bearing ground and work all your life and never get anything. Or you could become a millionaire overnight," Kress said.
"I think this is good gravel. I dug it from around the roots of a cedar tree that must be a couple of hundred years old."
A skeptical companion said: "You don't get rich from panning. Why, if I found a nugget the size of a pea I'd probably get drunk to celebrate."
Many Murray residents are optimistic that gold, which now sells for about $150 an ounce, may double in price.
There are stories of hidden riches in the timbered hills dotted with colorfully named mines like the Wakeup Jim, Dew Drop, Truher Box, Golden Chest and Terrible Edith.
Kres pointed to the heavily-timbered hillside behind the Four Square mine and mill, which has been dormant since 1934.
But on this day, in Murray, a dozen tourists were excitedly panning for colors in the back of Chris Christopherson's bar—one of three in the town.
The nugget, displayed in the Wallace Elks Club, probably contains about six ounces of pure gold and slightly more than two ounces of quartz, an assayer has said. But the discovery of the nugget was the first significant gold find in Murray since the 1920s when, legend has it, 350 pounds of gold were recovered by a dredge in one sweep near Christopherson's bar.
"We let people pan on the muck pile without charge," Mrs. Christopherson said. "It gives the kids something to do when their parents are drinking beer."

Vietnamese Girl Waits For Cure

HOUSTON (AP)—A South Vietnamese girl, born with a heart defect and weighing only 17 pounds, lies in a Houston hospital today while doctors see if they can save her life.
A spokesman for the Texas Children's Hospital said the physical condition of three-year-old Tran Thi Het, who arrived Sunday from Honolulu, would have to be built up before tests could start.
"She has a congenital heart defect, as yet not fully determined," the spokesman said. "She may be too fragile to undergo tests right now."
The child was forced to stop off at a Honolulu hospital because her condition worsened on the flight from Saigon to Houston.
"She does have an eye infection and probably some intestinal parasites," the hospital said.
The Associated Press carried a photograph of the child, who was discovered over a year ago sleeping in a cardboard box on a Saigon street. Her mother was a beggar.
The South Vietnamese embassy in Houston was inundated with letters and the Vietnamese-American Children's Fund of Saigon tracked down the child last September.
The mother was persuaded to give up the child so she could get better care. The heart defect was discovered while under treatment.
Arrangements were then made to bring the girl to Houston where surgery may be performed at the Texas Heart Institute, headed by noted heart surgeon Dr. Denton Cooley.

Hurricane Fifi Nears Honduras

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The National Hurricane Center issued this advisory bulletin on Hurricane Fifi today:
Fifi approaching north coast of Honduras.
Preparations should be rushed to completion for increasing winds which may reach 100 miles per hour by noon today over extreme Northeast Honduras and spread westward along the coast of northern Honduras, including the Bahia Islands, this afternoon and tonight. Precautions against hurricane conditions beginning later this morning should be continued on Swan Island.
Air Force reconnaissance reports and satellite pictures during the past few hours indicate that Fifi is moving on a slightly more westerly track. At 5 a.m. EDT the center was estimated near Latitude 16.2 north and Longitude 82.9 West, or about 145 miles east of Campe Camaron, Honduras. The hurricane is expected to continue on a track between west and west-southwest at 10 m.p.h. This will take the center across or very near the coast of northeastern Honduras near Cape Camaron this afternoon or evening. It is then expected to move westward at a slower forward speed, paralleling the north coast of Honduras through tonight.
Tides accompanied by rough seas and surf will gradually increase and may reach 8 to 10 feet above normal shortly before the arrival of the center.
Fishing boats and small craft around Honduras, Swan Island and Northeast Nicaragua should stay in safe harbor and those along the east coast of the Yucatan Peninsula from Guatemala northward should seek safe harbor.
Highest sustained winds are estimated at 100 m.p.h. in gusts to 125. The lowest central pressure reported by the Air Force plane during the night was 28.79 inches. Gales extend out 150 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south. Slight increase in strength is likely today. Heavy rains with accumulations of 8 to 10 inches or more will gradually spread westward along the north slopes of the Honduras mountains today.

Aunt Louise

Fred Thompkins (J.M. Dyer Mens Wear) and I were discussing last Sunday's column by yours truly where I mentioned Steve Vicker's enthusiasm for selling papers.

Fred said, "My boy Jamey, who is still in Bridgeport, is a little overweight. His mother tries to get him to cut down on his calories. Being a growing youngster that is no fun as he loves to eat."

Anyway Jamey has a friend who barely tips the scales at sixty pounds and in Bridgeport you have to weigh sixty pounds to get on the Pee Wee Baseball League; When the time rolled around for the Pee Wee try-outs he wanted to make sure he would be eligible for the team so he got into his father's fishing tackle box and put lead, weights, etc. in his pockets, just anything he thought would make him weigh more. The trouble was his mother caught him and made him put it all back and explained to him that it would not be fair. As the time came near for him to weigh he was almost in tears but this story has a happy ending too—he weighed sixty-two pounds!

"I said, 'Well, what if he runs that two or three pounds off?'"

Fred replied, "He won't. He will build up muscles with physical exercise and weigh more. Besides, I don't believe a man who loves to work with youngsters would be cruel enough to weigh him again."

Let's hope not!

The weather is making me have a tremendous appetite. I can't decide just what I want to eat but the bare fact is, it doesn't matter. Beans, peanut butter or what have you it tastes fine to me. My next door neighbor, Gay Bowman, made a big pot of home made soup the other day and she saved me a big bowl and it was really good.

I'm writing this column on Wednesday and everyone I meet seems so happy! I'm blaming that on the weather too! At least I'm inclined to think so. Can't think of anything that would make me any happier than to turn the alarm off in the mornings and snuggle under the covers and go back to sleep. But you better betcha if I did my boss would see to it that I wasn't happy for another two weeks. Smile!

Do you have any cute stories, we hear enough bad ones in the news? Caught a fish-jug news of any kind. Sure not, would love to hear from you.

See you Sunday.

Dear Aunt Louise, "I read with interest your column each Thursday and Sunday. My granddaughter works at the Corsicana Daily Sun and as she speaks of often I feel that I know you personally.

So recipes are popular? I'll never run out I have collected them for so many years. Have you cooked all your trout that you caught while visiting your son Pat in Brownsville? If not, try the following.

BAKED TROUT AND CHEESE

1/4 pound trout fillets
3/4 ounces American Cheese, sliced
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 teaspoon ground oregano or thyme
1/4 cup corn oil
2 medium onions, chopped
2 tablespoons all purpose flour

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 and 1/2 cups milk
Alternate layers of fish and cheese in lightly greased oblong baking dish, ending with cheese. Sprinkle with parsley and oregano or thyme. Heat corn oil in skillet; add onions and cook until tender stirring constantly, until thickened. Pour over fish Bake a 400 degrees until fish flakes easily with a fork, about twenty to thirty minutes. Yield: 4 serving.

CHOCOLATE CHIP PIE

1 (6-ounce) package chocolate morsels
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract or rum, mint or flavoring
4 eggs, separated
1 (9-inch) baked pie shell

Whipped topping
Chocolate shavings
Combine chocolate morsels, sugar, and milk in top of double boiler and heat over boiling water until chocolate is melted. Add flavoring and cool to lukewarm. Beat egg yolks one at a time into chocolate mixture. Beat egg whites separately and gently fold into chocolate. Pour into baked pie shell and refrigerate. Garnish with whipped topping and chocolate shavings. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

Add a vegetable or a green salad or both and you have one fine meal." Signed, Sincerely, Mrs. G. C. Gothard, Ennis, Texas.

Thank you for writing. I do still have some trout and I surely will try recipe.

Ennis Raises Rates Of Hospital Rooms

By JIM BUSH
Golden Circle Editor

ENNIS — The primary business of the Ennis City Council Monday included raising hospital room rates, giving final approval to the 1974-75 budget, and accepting bids on city equipment.

Use of a private room at the Ennis Municipal Hospital now cost $46 to $53 per day compared to the previous $40 to $47, according to City Manager Hayden Routh. Semiprivate room costs were upped to a range of $42-$52 compared to a previous $37-$45.

Routh said the council decided the rates should be raised after consulting with the Blue Cross Insurance Co. "This will put our rates more comparable with other hospitals in the area," he said.

The $2.7 million budget, which was discussed and approved at the council's Sept. 9 meeting, was given final approval by the council.

The $2.7 million budget, which was discussed and approved at the council's Sept. 9 meeting, was given final approval by the council.

The 1974-75 budget of $2,743,562 represents a $475,197 increase over last year's $2,268,365 budget.

Church of Christ in Corsicana Has Seen Changes Since 1889 Beginning

By SYLVIA A. WATERS

Church Editor

The history of the Church of Christ in Corsicana began in 1889, when a group of disciples began meeting from house to house, according to Howard White, Church of Christ on College Hill preacher.

The group included Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Houston, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Glass, and others.

The first public meeting place was in an upstairs hall over the YMCA, where Dyer's is now located. At that time B. B. Sanders and Bro. Pritchett conducted the meetings. "At the closing of the meeting," Jackson related, "Sanders wanted to put an organ in the church and called a vote on it. They out-voted us, so that caused the split of the church. We had another pull."

THE LOCAL GROUP then began meeting in the old Cedar Hall near the courthouse and at other locations in town.

In 1892 W. A. Sewell became the first full-time minister of the church.

The first group of elders appointed were T. M. Sowell, Dr. B. F. Houston, Dr. T. A. Miller, J. B. McQueen and M. T. Jackson.

J. A. HARDING, while conducting a meeting, encouraged the congregation to erect a building. The following year in 1896 the building was located at West Seventh Ave. In 1906 the building was moved to the corner of 18th Street and West Sixth Ave.

In 1924 the building was sold, and the building at 519 West Fifth Ave was erected at a total cost of a little more than $50,000.

Another congregation began in 1944. About 100 members established the Westside Church, leaving about 350 in the Fifth Avenue congregation. After another six years of growth, a new congregation was established and started meeting the first Sunday in January 1950 in a new building on North Beaton Street. This left about 350 members in the Fifth Avenue congregation.

IN 1965 THE ELDERS of the Fifth Avenue church approved a program designated "Operation College Hill." The 12-month plan called for three major goals: erect a suitable building at 3100 West Collin, train and equip personnel for the new work, and plan and

Larger Defense Bill Goes Before Houses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees have approved an $82.6-billion defense appropriations bill, $4.5 billion less than the Pentagon asked for but still more than last year.

The conference report, which still must receive final approval of both houses of Congress, is $3.1 billion more than last year's defense appropriation. Because many defense contracts are for more than one year the $4.5-billion cut is expected to result in an actual spending reduction of only $2.6 billion in the current fiscal year.

Equipment Co. on a John Deere, diesel-powered tractor-hackhoe. Riverview's bid was picked as the lowest of two bids on backhoe's using diesel, which is the most feasible fuel for the city according to Routh.

The low bid of $6,508 by Bruce Brown Chevrolet for two pickups for the water department was also approved by the council.

Routh announced that another phase of construction on the city's new sewage system is scheduled to begin "about the first of October," weather permitting. The project will include construction of a lift station and forced main from the Sonoma plant to the Oak Grove plant, the city's main sewage utility.

Routh also reported that engineers are working to update plans for eventual reconstruction of Ennis Municipal Airport.

The council tabled a request from Mrs. Dorothy Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Richland Hamill that Sunset Drive north of Sundale be abandoned. A public hearing is to be held prior to making a decision on the request.

A petition opposing trucks blocking the curb of a residential neighborhood was also discussed and will be considered in greater detail at a future council meeting.

project a program of work on an organized basis.

Oct. 31, 1965 was set as ground-breaking and a goal of $31,000 was projected for that Sunday. May 29, 1966 the congregation moved to College Hill and began worshipping at the new location.

The College Hill Building was erected at as total cost of approximately $160,000.

DISCUSSING THE CHURCH practices, White noted that the church does not baptize infants.

"We believe that baptism is for those who are sinners and who are lost. We do not believe infants are lost subjects," he said. "When one reaches the age of accountability and able to know the difference between right and wrong he becomes a subject for the gospel message," he added.

Discussing marriage and divorce he said "We believe the Lord gave only one exception for divorce and remarriage and that was in Matthew 19. He put it on the basis of fornication and adultery. That gives one the right to put away his partner and death frees one to remarry," he said.

Asked if the church performed inter-denominational marriages he explained that it is a matter of individual preachers prerogative.

"I think there are situations where it would be best not to perform it. The incompatibility of the individuals in their religious beliefs would almost doom the marriage to failure," he pointed out.

The church believes that there is no creed but the Bible, no name but Christ's, no organization by the church, and no worship but that authorized by Christ.

Industrial Park Financing Campaign Extended One Week

By BETTY JEAN CLAY

Sun Editor

The community solicitation drive to raise $150,000 in the "Forward Corsicana Campaign" for funds to finance the city's new IH-45 Industrial Park was extended Monday for at least another week when the latest gifts tabulated brought the drive's total to $94,975.

Donations were tabulated Tuesday from 29 additional givers at a check-up meeting at 4:30 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce of a committee of 20 key selected community leaders.

At least nine workers in the campaign had not reported on their prospect cards at the checkup meeting and this was taken into account in extending the drive by Rogers Ray, chairman of Phase Two.

"We are optimistic that even though we will have to lengthen our campaign, perhaps as much as a week, that we will achieve our goal," Chairman Ray avowed.

Various campaign workers had advised Ray and Embury Ferguson, Corsicana Industrial Foundation president, unexpected press of their own work duties and inability to contact prospects figured in their not being able to complete their assignments.

Of the 27 new gifts obtained in the campaign, Ray noted pledges from 11 were obtained by officers of First National Bank who solicited the contributions under the direction of Bank President W. D. Wyatt. These were identified as pledges received from: Kenneth Johnston, McKey Lumber Company, Cooper's Shoes, Cranford Vending Machine Co., Owen Hardware, Buck's Appliance, Hervey Motors, The Gusher, J.M. Dyer Co., Robert L. Wheelock and Winters Oil

Co.

Others whose pledges were turned in Monday by committee workers included: Watkins Construction Co., King's Materials (James King, developer), Conger Heating and Air Conditioning, Navarro Savings Association, City Office Supply, Western Auto, Waddell Abstract Co., Blackford Printing Co., Tatum Air Conditioning Co., Elliott and Oldroyd, Reid's Pharmacy, Roy C. Love, John J. Craig, Gulf agent; Ed M. Polk Insurance Co., Dr. Joseph McNally, Corsicana Lumber & Supply Co., J.N. Haynie Wrecker Service and Tom White Chevrolet.

"This is 63 per cent of our goal and considering we've only been at work for a week on this Phase Two segment, we are highly encouraged and optimistic of reaching the $150,000 goal," Ray reiterated Wednesday morning.

There will be no let up of effort on the part of the task force hand-picked for this element of the drive, he emphasized.

Teague Senior In 'Who's Who'

TEAGUE—Gary N. Henson, a senior at Teague High School, will be featured in the Eighth Annual Edition (1973-74) of "Who's Who Among American High School Students," the largest student award publication in the nation.

Henson, the son of Mrs. Bertie Henson and Mr. Joel Henson Sr. (deceased), is active in the Junior Red Cross, National Rifle Association, Boy Scouts, school yearbook, and Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Awards and honors he has received include a National Merit Award, Eagle Scout Award, American Red Cross Waterfront Safety and Senior Lifesaving.

In addition to having his biography published in Who's Who, Henson will also compete for one of ten scholarship awards of from $500 to $1000 funded by the publishers and will be invited to participate in the firm's annual "Survey of High Achievers."

Henson plan to attend Baylor University in Waco upon graduation from Teague High School.

New Telephone Directories Point Up Corsicana's Growth

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company will begin mailing new telephone directories to customers in Corsicana Sept. 26, according to Jim Acker, manager for the telephone company.

Acker said the new directory is a good barometer of the growth and economic progress being made in the Corsicana area. As might be expected, this year's directory is larger than the one a year ago.

The new directory will be 61 pages of alphabetical listings and 108 Yellow Pages. A total

Ham Radio Operator Gives Demonstration

By SYLVIA A. WATERS

Sun Staff Writer

John Collier, local ham radio operator, at the Tuesday noon luncheon of the Corsicana Lions Club in demonstrating the use of the radio contacted WA6BJS in San Carlos, Calif. located near San Francisco.

Collier (WB5AIR) explained that to become a ham (a name believed derived from the frequent complaints by old-time telegraphers about "hamfisted" code senders), a person has to pass an examination in morse code and radio theory given by the Federal Communications Commission.

Each successful applicant is given an individual call letter, or "CQ" which permits him to operate a two-way radio within internationally designated shortwave bands.

A ham must also have a license from any other country he wants to broadcast from—a procedure that usually involves little more than filing an application, according to Collier.

He explained that ham equipment consists of a transmitter and a receiver. The two are combined in a sophisticated ham radio box called a "transceiver."

Collier noted that hams talk to each other by a number of methods, all of which involve bouncing radio signals off the ionosphere from one spot to another.

On the air, hams use two principal means of transmitting messages: Morse Code (or CW), and radio-telephone, or voice phone transmission.

He also noted that ham logs all contacts he makes, and may ask other hams to exchange QXL cards—postcard-sized cards that give the name of the ham, date of the contact and nature of the conversation.

Collier exhibited a large collection of QXL cards from places that included France, Yugoslavia, and Mongolia.

Collier told members of the club that ham operators play an important role in contacting families for servicemen and in assisting in times of emergencies.

He cited the earthquake in Nicaragua and Hurricane Carla as tow of many instances in which ham radios played a vital role in getting in contact with relatives of victims who were involved in the two incidents.

He told club members there are 275,000 hams in the U.S., many of whom are executives like Buzz Reeves of Reeves Communications who owns a system valued at $100,000. He pointed out that an operator could start a ham system for as little as $100.

Two well known operator among hams are King Hussein of Jordan (JY1) and his wife, Princess Moana of the Middle East.

Guests of the club were T.L. Miller of Fairfield, Maurice Kirkpatrick, Don Mitchem, and Willard Davis.

New club members are Ernest Kasprzyk and Capt. Lon Kinley.

In other business the club will hold a directors meeting at noon Thursday at the Navarro Hotel.

Kirkpatrick, member of the Sunrise Lions Club, announced that it will sponsor a pancake supper from 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the UCF Building located across from Navarro College. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

Child Evangelism Clubs Worked With 475 Children This Summer

By SYLVIA A. WATERS

Youth Editor

The Navarro County Child Evangelism Fellowship's Five Day Clubs consisting of nine clubs and six Vacation Bible Schools taught 475 boys and girls this summer, according to Mrs. Charles Harmon, director.

The boys and girls were taught by local youth that included Walter McDonald, Barbara Bergey, Linda Dunn, and John Goins.

The Five Day Clubs form an outdoor program for boys and girls during the summer which teaches religion through Bible stories, visual materials, and song and games. The clubs meet five days a week for one hour.

The Good News Club is the main ministry of Child Evangelism Fellowship during the school months. The club meets for an hour a week after school and are taught by trained persons. Child Evangelism Fellowship is an international, inter-mission, and interdenominational organization.

Its aim is to reach the unreached children with the Gospel with a goal of making the ministry self-supporting in every area of the world, according to Mrs. Harmon.

The CEF cites Mark 10:14 "Suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not" in noting the purpose of its work.

The Navarro County Child Evangelism Fellowship will begin Good News Clubs at several nurseries and at private homes for boys and girls in elementary schools.

The nursery locations and times include Day Care No. 2 9:30 a.m. Mondays; Crockett Headstart, 10:30 a.m. Mondays; Mrs. Hines Nursery, 3:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Eastside Project Nursery, 2:30 p.m. Wednesdays.

Good News Clubs for boys and girls who attend Fannin Elementary School will be held after school (times to be announced) at Wesley Methodist Church; Travis Elementary School students at the home of Mrs. Joyce Nichols, 1900 N. Beaton St.; Lee students may attend at the home of Mrs. John Norwood, 2014 West Fourth; and Bowie students may attend at the home of Mrs. Laura Goins, 1420 Princeton Drive; A Good News Club will also be held at the home of Mrs. L. M. Searcy, 1302 S. First St.

YMCA to Make Repairs, Raise Some Salaries

The YMCA Board of Directors during its regular meeting Thursday approved a motion by Bill Robinson, board member and chairman of the building and grounds committee, that $2,151.62 of the reserve contingency fund and $1,000 interest from the Y savings account be used to make needed repairs to the Y.

Robinson presented a report and noted the needed repairs include the steam room condensation drain on gym roof, which leaks; drain on the pool which leaks; drain on the pool roof, which leaks; and repair of the threshold of the health club which leaks.

Robinson pointed out that these four items were in need of immediate attention.

Also among a list of 16 other needed repairs were: needed repairs to the ceiling in women's and girls' shower; general painting to doors, walls, etc.; repairs to the handball court; replacement of carpet in health club lounge; cleaning of metal around pool; cleaning of the metal in the steam room; repair to the vinyl tile floor in all locker rooms; replacement of benches in steam room; and spot painting of lockers in downstairs locker room.

Additional items included repairs to dressing stalls in women's and girls' locker room, a replacement of panels

Police Beat

Two burglary complaints were investigated Tuesday, Chief Don Massey said today.

Capt. Fred Gray investigated a theft of tools valued at $210 which Lloyd Moore, 1500 Beverly Drive Circle, reported had been taken in a burglary of a vacant house he owns and is refurbishing at 2121 West Fourth Ave. Moore advised police he discovered the burglary Tuesday on returning after working at the Fourth Avenue house Sunday at which time he left tools until he could return and continue his repairs.

Discovered to have been stolen in the interim were a saber saw, belt sander, skill saw, electric drill and a Kodak movie camera.

Burglary of a car on the CHS parking lot was investigated at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday by Officer Brad Haynie on the complaint

Oilman Says U.S. Can Forget about Lower Gasoline Prices

HOUSTON (AP) — An Oklahoma oil executive says motorists can forget about 35-cent gasoline.

Jack Turner, a Phillips Petroleum Co. vice president, told a panel of Federal Energy Administration officials Tuesday the general public is mistaken by thinking the self-sufficiency objectives of Project Independence will mean a return to lower prices.

He said higher costs are ahead and federal planners must convince the public this is true.

Turner testified bluntly at the third of 10 regional hearings through which the FEA hopes to develop a definition of energy independence.

"This is a most important definition," he said. "Presently, the public generally considers that the government's program for energy independence will permit returning to the old ways of unlimited energy use by each citizen at low prices, prices in the order of 15 cents for gas at the wellhead and 35 cents for automobile gasoline at the station pump. There is no way this nation can return to that situation."

Turner said energy independence can only mean the federal government will work with industry in an attempt to provide each citizen a necessary but reasonable amount of energy.

The prices of such energy, he added, will be high enough to provide sufficient earnings for reinvestment in new facilities so that reasonable supplies can continue in future years.

He said such supplies can involve coal gasification and liquefaction and shale oil.

"All of these can only be provided at a higher cost," he said. "Government agencies need to make sure it is so understood by the citizen."

Turner said the official notice for the regional hearings shows the FEA is fully aware of what he has called the energy problem.

"The U.S. demand for energy is increasing at a rate which cannot be met by continuing to rely on the historic sources of oil and gas supplies," he said.

J. E. Finley, Houston, Continental Oil Co. executive vice president, said a national energy policy must be developed to guide industry and government alike in the effort to move as rapidly as possible toward maximum energy independence.

"This effort toward self-sufficiency must provide for an orderly development of oil and natural gas, coal, oil shale, nuclear power, and all other forms of available energy," Finley said. "The mix between these alternatives must be a function of cost and resource availability."

"By cost," Finley added, "I mean all costs; the social cost of greater conservation, the direct cost of trade imbalances, the environmental costs attendant to resource recovery and conversion."

Robert A. Dean, Midland, Tex., blamed government interference for the energy shortage and for depleting the ranks of independent operators who have traditionally discovered 75 to 85 per cent of all domestic oil and gas reserves.

"If we were short of oil and gas because there were no more reserves, that would be one thing," said Dean, representing four area trade groups for Texas independents.

"The fact is we have estimates of over 400 billion barrels of crude oil reserves and 2,000 trillion cubic feet of natural gas reserves yet to be discovered in the United States."

He said over one-half of the undiscovered reserves are onshore in the lower 48 states.

"Our problem then is not a scarcity of future resources, but a government's continual interfering, which prevents the independent operator from looking for, and finding, those desperately needed reserves."

The signers of the Declaration of Independence ranged in age from 26 (Edward Rutledge) to 70 (Benjamin Franklin).

New Drug May Help Body Fight Off Common Cold

CHICAGO (AP) — University of Illinois researchers say an experimental drug significantly increases the body's defenses against the common cold and may be the answer to control of the ailment.

The drug, propanediamine, stimulates an increase in the body's natural production of interferon, a chemical that defends the body against viral and some other infections.

Because interferon is effective against all viruses, it has been considered promising in the control of respiratory infections, such as the cold.

Colds are caused by so many types of viruses that a vaccine against all of them is thought impractical.

The scientists at the university's medical school in Chicago said they used 39 young volunteers to study the effects of propanediamine.

Fifteen subjects in the Illinois experiment were given the new drug via nose drops. Then they were exposed to cold-causing viruses.

They developed either no cold symptoms or so few that they were considered insignificant.

Other subjects not given the drug were exposed to the same viruses. They developed colds.

Roving Russians Find Religious Freedom, Maybe Roots, in Boondocks of Alaska

NIKOLAEVSK, Alaska (AP) — They've traveled almost around the world in search of a place to practice their religion in peace.

And here, only 650 miles from their Mother Russia, about 300 "Old Believers" believe they've found what they've been looking for.

"Life up here is not easy but very good," says Carl Martushev, smiling from behind a scraggly beard.

The village they've carved out of the wilderness isn't on any map. It's 12 miles up a dusty, gravel road on Alaska's Kenai Peninsula, 200 miles southwest of Anchorage.

Before turning up the road at Anchor Point, you've reached the westernmost point accessible by car on the North American continent.

Here, on the village's dirt streets, lined with picket fences, fair-skinned youngsters play a stick-throwing game called "clock" while playmates shout encouragement in Russian.

And here they practice the Russian Orthodox faith as it existed in the 16th century, before liturgical reforms were made.

They worship in a simple woodframe building, not much different from the village houses, except for its onion-top spires.

Martushev says his people don't get too fancy in church buildings, because their roots remain shallow.

"If something goes wrong with our church we will leave and we don't give a damn whether we leave a house behind," he said.

But the rootlessness has reached full circle. "If we can't stay here, there's no place to go ... except back to Russia and we've been there," he said.

The long journey of the Old Believers began when they split with the Czar over religious reforms.

They first moved to Siberia, living there until they could no longer handle the excesses of communism.

They moved to China and fared little better, and in the 1860s they left for Brazil.

After living briefly in Brazil, they gained admittance to the United States under an agreement worked out with President Kennedy. They were allowed to move to communities in Oregon, as long as they stayed off the welfare rolls.

There's no problem of welfare rolls in Alaska.

Far from it, in seven years on the peninsula, they've become the envy of homesteaders and fishermen who've lived on the Kenai since World War II or longer.

They built a new village in a virgin spruce forest.

Most of the homes have washers, dryers and other modern appliances and several homes have saunas.

But there are no radio or television sets in the village.

"It's against our religion," says carpenter Peter Basargin, 21.

Still they know what's going on. Some have read Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn's works.

The village elders recently visited a neighbor, retired Army Brig. Gen. B. B. Talley, their closest friend, to ask: "Do you think the government will fail because of Wargates? We can't stay here if it becomes Communist."

Talley says the Old Believers left Oregon because they felt their religion was threatened when some of their children began smoking marijuana.

He said they encourage village young people to marry early to avoid contacts with the outside.

A decision to set up a separate school in the village has helped shield the children.

Although some of the men speak Russian, Chinese, Portuguese and English, none speaks English well enough to pass citizenship tests.

The village adults plan to hire a teacher to help them pass citizenship tests.

THE MULKEY HOME

A man who made his name famous during his lifetime, Abe Mulkey could be called 'the Billy Graham' of early Texas. He had been a successful businessman, but he sold his business in 1890 and began his evangelism, preaching many years over the entire Southwest and in Mexico.

Corsicana remained home base, and he and his wife built their home on West 3rd, the same corner where Navarro Savings is now located. Their home was very large and finely furnished. Many still remember the unusual leather wall covering in the entrance.

Silicone Implants for Mastectomy Cases?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your encouragement to women who have had a breast removed was greatly appreciated by those of us who have gone through the experience. Mrs. Birch Bayh's letter which backed up your statements was a beautiful shot in the arm. My thanks to you both.

And now a question, which I hope you won't think is foolish. I had a mastectomy in 1970. Since that time I have been wearing a bra with a built-in breast and it looks very natural. No one would suspect it wasn't real. But I have heard and read a great deal about those silicone implants for women who are flat-chested or want to be larger. Would such an operation be possible for those of us who have lost a breast to cancer? Will you check with an authority and let me know? Thanks and God bless. — GREATFUL IN GREAT NEED

DEAR G: I checked with one of the world's most distinguished surgeons, a pioneer in the field of reconstructive surgery. He is Dr. John Marquise Converse, at the New York University Medical Center. His reply is as follows: "If, after a breast has been removed, the skin has remained intact and is of good quality, an implant can be placed under the skin thus reestablishing the breast contour and a degree of symmetry with the opposite breast. In some cases, however, the skin of the breast must be removed during the operation and the area skin grafted. In such cases the implant cannot be applied."

Some surgeons do not approve of placing an implant after an operation for cancer. In some cases, a prosthetic breast (made of rubber) is advised. Thousands of women are wearing the false breasts built into their bras and find them completely satisfactory. The reconstructive operation can be performed by grafting tissue from the abdomen up to the breast, but a number of stages are required and the results are not very impressive.

So there you have it from the Mt. Olympus of medicine. And now I hope you will return to your physician and see if you qualify for reconstructive surgery. If he says no, please don't be unhappy. Thousands of women are using artificial breasts built into their brassieres and they are indistinguishable from the real thing.

unhappy I am, but I don't have that much ink in my pen. I've talked to J about moving, but he says we can't afford to right now. I need a life alone with the man I love. I'm sick and tired of keeping house for his parents. What should I do? — OLI BEFORE MY TIME

DEAR O.B.: Why don't you just shoot 'em? For heaven's sake, girl, don't you understand that you moved in on THEM? I you're unhappy, how do you think his parents feel?

My advice is to clear out — either with Mr. Wonderful or without him. Two years is long enough for aging parents to put up with a shack job right under their noses.

How much do you know about pot, L.S.D., cocaine, speed, meth, uppers and downers, glue and heroin? Are all these drugs dangerous? Get Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar bill plus a long, self-addressed envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Coverup
When trying to cover dark circles under eyes avoid white coverups. They only look unnatural and draw more attention to circles. Choose a color a shade lighter than your skin and blend it under the eyes carefully.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

THURSDAY, Sept. 19

Your birthday today: Consolidating current progress is your main prospect this coming year. Add to your reserves at every opportunity; confirm your claims to material possessions. Much extra effort is needed to overcome your tendency toward laziness and settling the status quo. Today's natives have strong literary interests and include many productive writers.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Be political, keep each deal separate from all the others and move on briskly. Brief contacts with technical experts fare well, bring in new angles.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Ask your friends and loved ones for ideas about organizing future schedules and budgets. Interesting complexities arise in romance.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Everything and everybody you met now has a different angle or another story altogether. You begin a promising, long-hoped-for personal project.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Creative efforts predominate. News draws scattered ideas together in a more coherent form. Cash in on current conditions where possible. Redeem outstanding obligations.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Make introductions, promote long-range career plans and improvements.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): It's time to celebrate friendships with and achievements of those who frequently cooperate with you. Local and distant news is helpful, although not all happy or complete.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Get right down to serious business without wasting a minute. New plans practically launch themselves spontaneously. At quitting time, take a break, forget work and shop-talk altogether.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Good counsel, technical and professional skills are close by. Personal ventures thrive with normal diligence. The concerns of children and younger people in general improve.
